

sir george williams university, montreal 107

Summer

Institute in HISTORY

July 5 - Aug. 13, 1971

sgwm

GRAEME DECARIE

University of P.E.I.

History of Canada since 1534

CAMERON NISH

Sir George Williams University

Nationalism and Separatism in French Canada

HUGH KEARNEY

Edinburgh University

The Making of Modern Britain,
1780-1960

DOUGLAS MILLER

Michigan State University

Studies in American Social and Intellectual History

BRIAN HARRISON

University of British Columbia

Colonialism and Nationalism
in Southeast Asia

FOR DETAILS WRITE TO
DIRECTOR, SUMMER INSTITUTE
DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

MONTREAL

With its 2,500,000 people, Montreal is the second largest French city in the World. Its culture is a distinctive cosmopolitan flavour. Old historic buildings are mingled with the modern architecture of a large metropolis in a great port on the St. Lawrence River. The Laurentian Mountains and the Green Mountains of Vermont are only an hour's drive away.

HOUSING

The University does not operate student residences. It is, however, prepared to assist students in finding suitable lodgings, upon request. These should be addressed to the Office of the Dean of Students.

RECREATION

The city of Montreal offers a wide variety of cultural and recreational opportunities. The Office of the Dean of Students will be glad to furnish specific information about these and to make any arrangements that may be required.

ADMISSION

Admission and registration are by mail and on a first-come first-served basis. Course enrollments will be limited.

UNDER- GRADUATE & GRADUATE CREDIT

With the exception of History 221, these are third and fourth year undergraduate courses, and may count for graduate credit as well. A full course is the equivalent of six semester hours, lectures being two hours per day from Monday through Friday for six weeks.

PREREQUISITES

Students interested in exploring the relationship between philosophical and sociological approaches to the study of man are particularly welcome. Prerequisites are listed with each course description. Students from other institutions are welcome and are expected to have comparable prerequisites. A transcript or letter from the appropriate institution should be submitted as documentation of prerequisites.

Fees are one hundred dollars for a full course.

FEES

A deposit of $25.00 per full course must accompany an application for admission and registration. This money will be credited to fees if an application is accepted. It will be refunded only if an application is refused. The balance of the fee must be paid within 10 calendar days of the beginning of classes.

No adjustment of fees is allowed for cancellation of courses once the term has commenced.

NOTE

Sir George students are reminded that they may not earn more than two course credits in one summer, regardless of the session in which the courses are taken.

All application forms, inquiries, and correspondence concerning these courses should be addressed to:

ADDRESS

Director, Summer Institute
Department of History
Sir George Williams University
Montréal 107, P.Q.
Canada.

FORMER VISITING PROFESSORS

1966

Peter M. Worsley
University of Manchester, England

James Bertin Webster
University of Ibadan, Nigeria

1967

Blake McKelvey
City Historian, Rochester, N.Y.
Fernand Ouellet
Carleton University

Norman Pollack
Wayne State University
Charles Tilly
University of Toronto

1968

Stanley Mealing
Carleton University, Ottawa
Rudolf Schlesinger
Glasgow University

Herbert Gutman
University of Rochester, New York.

1969

Traian Stoianovich
Rutgers University, N.J.
C.W. Curwen
University of London

Peter Larmour
Ohio State University
Frank Otto Gatell
University of California,
Los Angeles

1970

Charles W. Humphries
University of British Columbia
Donald G. Gillin
Vassar College

Thomas McCormick
University of Pittsburgh
Peter N. Stearns
Rutgers University

History of Canada Since 1534

A study of the growth of Canada from the age of exploration to the present time. Emphasis is placed on the political, economic and cultural developments which are of significance in the understanding of the problems of today.

History 221.OA

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:30 - 11:30

Visiting Professor:
Graeme Decarie
University of P.E.I.

GRAEME DECARIE, M.A., Acadia, specializes in Canadian social and urban history. He has recently completed a study of the prohibition movement in Ontario and a portion of this work will appear in Oliver Mowat's Ontario

NATIONALISM AND SEPARATISM IN FRENCH CANADA

The purpose of this course is to examine the concepts and roles of nationalism and separatism throughout the history of French Canada. The approach of the course will be to examine these phenomena by means of individuals, parties or institutions. The time scope of the course will be from the origins of French Canada in the colonial period to contemporary times.

Participants will be required to submit one (1) major essay of an approximate length of 20 pages or five thousand words. These essays will form the basis of class discussion. In order to do the required research, a good reading knowledge of French is required. There will be no written examination, but all participants will be required to take an oral examination. The latter will be based on the required readings, and the essays considered in the seminars.

HISTORY 428.0A (627.0)

Prerequisite: One course in Canadian History or permission of the History Director

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:30 - 3:30

CAMERON NISH, Doctorat, Laval University, is a specialist in the history of Quebec, with particular emphasis on the social and economic history of the French regime in Canada. His published works include The French Regime, a documentary study; The French Canadians, 1759-1766: Conquered? Half-conquered? Liberated? and Les Bourgeois-Gentilshommes de la Nouvelle-France, 1729-1748, as well as several articles in learned journals. Among his forthcoming work is a book of readings on Maurice Duplessis and a study of entrepreneurship in New France in the 18th century. He is research and executive director of the Centre de Recherche en Histoire Economique du Canada Français and director of the Centre D'Etude du Québec.

THE MAKING OF MODERN BRITAIN

1780-1960

The history of Britain during this period illustrates many themes: imperialism, industrialisation, mass-education, nationalism and not least the impact of science upon religion and thought. For this course the history of Great Britain and Ireland will be discussed in an intellectual context with due reference to the literary background.

HISTORY 438.0A (617.0)

Prerequisite: One course in European History or permission of the History Director

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:30 - 11:30

Visiting Professor:
Hugh Kearney
University of Edinburgh

HUGH KEARNEY is a graduate of Cambridge University. He has taught at universities in Dublin, Oxford, Sussex, Pittsburgh and Berkeley. He is at present Professor of History in the University of Edinburgh and is author of several books: Strafford in Ireland, Origins of the Scientific Revolution, Scholars and Gentlemen, Universities and Society in Pre-Industrial Britain 1500-1700, Science and Change 1500-1700.

STUDIES IN AMERICAN SOCIAL AND INTELLECTUAL HISTORY

This course will concentrate on changing social ideas, institutions, and values from the era of the American Revolution to the Progressive Period. The major focus will be on the nineteenth century. Students will be required to do a wide range of readings, write a research paper, and take an essay examination. Students will also be encouraged to participate in class discussions.

HISTORY 459.0A (659.0)

Prerequisite: One course in American History or permission of the History Director

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 1:30 - 3:30

Visiting Professor:
Douglas Miller
Michigan State University

DOUGLAS MILLER received his M.A. from Columbia and Ph.D. from Michigan State. He is the author of Jacksonian Aristocracy, Class and Democracy in New York, 1830-1860 and The Birth of Modern America, 1820-1850. His current research is on violent mass behaviour in pre-Civil War America.

COLONIALISM AND NATIONALISM IN SOUTHEAST ASIA

A comparative treatment of some of the processes of change in this region between 1870 and 1970. The European organization of economic resources, immigration and population dislocation, nationalism and the struggle for political responsibility will be considered.

HISTORY 466.0A (664.0)

Prerequisite: One course in Asian History or permission of the History Director

Full Course: Mon. to Fri. 9:30-11:30

Visiting Professor:
Brian Harrison
University of British Columbia

BRIAN HARRISON, M.A., Dublin, is professor of history at the University of British Columbia. He taught previously at the University of Malaya and the University of Hong Kong. He is the author of South-East Asia: A Short History, and various articles on Malayan and Southeast Asian history.